The Largest Exhibition Dedicated to

WHY IMS2023?

Be part of the action at this not-to-be-missed event as microwave engineering professionals from across the globe come together at the premier technical conference and tradeshow. Meet face-to-face with thousands of microwave and RF engineers who are buying and developing materials, devices, components, systems, design and simulation software as well as test and measurement equipment for products operating from RF to Millimeter-Wave.

For 65+ years, this community has been coming together from over 50 countries to learn, discover, collaborate and network with thousands of like-minded colleagues. The IEEE MTT-S International Microwave Symposium is the world's largest event for microwave professionals seeking cutting-edge education and networking opportunities.
